

Will Keio whip Waseda again? All ball fans focus on the big game

Encouragement

JAPAN FOREIGN MINISTER AIICHIRO FUJIYAMA, ALUMINUS OF KEIO, SENT A MESSAGE TO THE EDITOR AS FOLLOWS;

Aiichiro Fujiyama

this is to long for 'purity'. The common people are moved by seeing the attitude of young baseball men who give full play to sportsmanship at the maximum only for the honor of each Alma Mater.

Enthusiasm for the work in society and the strong will in doing something to its end are refined by sports. It is with such spirit that Japan in the present can hope the young students to carry the next generation.

I eagerly hope that the Keio nine will fight a good fight and play a fair game with enthusiasm and spirit.

Aiichiro Fujiyama

DOUGLAS MACARTHUR, THE UNITED STATES' AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN, GAVE A MESSAGE TO THE EDITOR AS FOLLOWS;

Douglas MacArthur II

additional opportunities to expand these associations even farther in the best spirit of friendly competition.

I wish both teams the best of luck.

Douglas MacArthur II

The traditional Keio Waseda Baseball Series is to be held on November 9th and 10th at Jingu Stadium.

This nation-wide well-known ball game which was inaugurated in 1903, though for some reason it had been suspended from 1906 till 1924, has been played for more than half a century. So it has its own history.

Today's popular game is regarded as a 'festival' by the students of Keio and Waseda Universities. Every student of both universities considers that this traditional game gives him a pleasant stimulus to the monotonous school-life, and makes his life colorful and enjoyable. By this game even those who are struggling for existence are made merry and cheered-up.

Not only on school campuses, but also in offices, factories and at homes or even in rush-hour trains, ball fans are talking much of the traditional match and looking forward to the event.

Today the day has come. Hundreds of thousands of people as well as the students of both universities are rushing to the Stadium. "The die is cast! Let's cross the Rubicon!"

Keio fighters are here!

Hurlers and sluggers are now in the top condition! Hope to stir up players and crush Waseda with fighting spirit!

PITCHERS

Kaoru Hayashi

21, Law senior 5.7-shaku, 67.5-Kg, Kobe High School graduate, Ace hurler for Keio and has good, fast ball in out course and curve. He was wounded by motor accident in Spring, but now in good condition and having good control. On batting often shows good ball hitting-ability.

Manager Inaba

Defeat Waseda!

"Of course the only and the greatest desire of us is to defeat Waseda. I feel confident that our excellent pitching staff—that is the pride of Keio team—will limit Waseda's batters within the lowest batting averages. Not only the most reliable Hayashi but the only south-paw Tatum has perfectly advanced in pitching power and are confident of the win. In addition Takahashi of speedball and Hirono are all in good condition."

"So that they will never give Waseda more than three points. I thrust, the batting power of Waseda team will never meet pitching of our fourfighters."

"Speaking of our team's batting, slugger Nagano, Ikenishi, Nagao and Kato have mastered their sharp batings. I especially expect Nagano's batting with full verve. You may safely expect that they will show their active and brilliant hittings over Waseda."

"As is the case with K-W matches, however, players are apt to be unnecessarily excited by the special atmosphere. I, also, feel something like thrills at the stadium. So that to try to relax them is my only work. But this K-W series will be the last one which most of nine can take part in as members of Keio."

Dependable Pitching Staff

Tsutomu Hirono

21, Law senior 5.85-shaku, 64Kg, Tokushima Commercial High School graduate, He is an old hand at corner works using slider and curve. Play an active part as a relief pitcher for his pluck.

Eiichi Takahashi

21, Law junior 5.75-shaku 64Kg, Shinjo Kita High School graduate. He defeated Waseda hurling 17 innings at the spring K-W match. Has the most fast ball among six teams, and has especially sharp shoot. He is the most bold hurler among four pitchers.

Hajime Tatum

21, Law junior 5.7-shaku, 60Kg, Yokkaichi High School graduate. Only one southpaw of the team with well-controlled curve and slider. He has much progress owing to the good advices of manager Inaba and the lead of catcher Kuromatsu. He is in best condition.

INFIELDERS

Motoharu Nagano (firstbase)

21, Law senior 5.92-shaku 73Kg, Tosa High School graduate, He changed from catcher to the firstbase, but now grown up finely. Only one long hitter in his team, and whether Keio defeat Waseda or not depend entirely upon his batting. He is willing to do his best and knock-out Sakurai, Waseda ace, by all means. He has a confidence against Sakurai, because he smacked out two big homers last All K-W matches from him. Expect him putting up a good fight!

Recognized his swift fielding since his high school days. Smacked hits all of the matched in spring. He shows good fielding especially the direction of shortstop.

Katsumasa Nishitsuji (shortstop)

21, Law senior 5.7-shaku, 75Kg, He is one of the strongest slugger in the team. But had not a chance to take part in because of this many week points. Can expect him playing an active part as a pinch-hitter.

OUTFIELDERS

Tsuneo Hamabe

20, Law, junior 5.6-shaku, 68Kg,

Here we are! Now our chance!

All the members stand in a circle, elaborating a plan of icing the game.

Yoshiyuki Kinoshita (firstbase)

22, Law senior, 5.7-shaku, 60Kg, Hyogo High School graduate, Have not a chance to take part in, because of his small stature but has steady fielding.

Hideo Honda (secondbase)

22, Law senior 5.6-shaku, 64Kg, Akita High School graduate, The most reliable secondbase man among six teams and is large in his position. He is a man of quiet taste but strong in pinches. Hope him to do his best!

Joshikazu Warashina

22, Law Senior, 5.6-shaku 74Kg, Recognized for his reliable fielding and the powerful slugging. The fastest runner of the team.

Hisatada Kato (thirdbase)

21, Law senior 5.75-shaku, 66Kg,

Kokura High School graduate, Kishiwada High School graduate, Is not large in stature but a middle hitter. Will play as a left fielder and the fifth batter on behalf of Akagi. Expect him to be a slugger of the next year.

Kenichi Akagi

20, Law Eco., junior 5.75-shaku, 69Kg, Keio High School graduate, Smacked out a big homer in spring.

Masao Shibahata

21, Law, senior 5.7-shaku, 64Kg, Keio High School graduate, He is in good condition.

Katsuro Takahashi

20, Law, sophomore, 5.75-shaku, 64Kg, Smacked out many clean hits as pinch hitter in spring. Changed from the firstbase to the leftfield.

Will do the best!

Pitcher Hayashi

The ace pitcher of Keio baseball team, Hayashi expressed his hopes to Keio-Waseda Games. "Of course, we have unshaken confidence to defeat the old rival Waseda team. Favoured in best condition both of body and mind at present, and, what is better, having abundant pitching staff—Tatum, Hirono and Takahashi—I can pitch unreservedly in the traditional game with all my energy."

At all events, it is my biggest aim not to give Waseda team more than three points. Then, the victory will adequately to our team. On that account, I must strongly guard against Waseda's clean-up trio, Kondo, Mori and Nakamura.

Waseda's players are not invariably in good form in this autumn series. Big Six University Baseball League Games, but we must always our guard. For they will surely display their skill in Keio-Waseda game. Especially to the long hitter Mori, I intend to pitch carefully. It is my intention to pitch interior or exterior angle low balls to them.

In a going ahead or a relief pitching I should like to hurl against every batter with all my might."

Certainly Keio's pitching staff are ample and strong. We hope their clean pitching in K-W games.

Hirobumi Fujimori

20, Law sophomore, 5.7-shaku, 68Kg, Saijo High School graduate, Rather small in stature but his good fighting is more than his size.

Hiroyuki Ikenishi

21, Law senior, 5.65-shaku, 64Kg, He is the most reliable outfielder in the six teams. Strong in pinches and play as a third batter. He is a long hitter but lacks of certainly. Is in the best condition now.

Katsuhiko Nagao

21, Law senior, 5.7-shaku, 64Kg, Sumoto High School graduate, There is no use of saying his wonderful capacity on both batting and fielding. The most typical Keio's player. Tactful player and chosen as one of the best-nine in spring.

CATCHERS

Shunichi Kuromatsu

22, Eco. senior 5.6-shaku, 64Kg, Keio High School graduate. He is a captain of the team and a sparkplug on offense and defense. The most vigorous fighter in his team and has good inside work. He is a so-called "Clutch hitter".

Captain Kuromatsu

Aim is to win!

Captain Kuromatsu

"Aim is to win the K-W game" Having bitter experience in the first K-M Baseball match, Keio has been getting good condition. At any rate, our only and supreme aim is to defeat Waseda. We must not lose the traditional K-W Baseball match at any rate. This is the issue that not only I, but all the members of the Keio team are eager for.

At present, the Keio nine devote themselves to training under manager Inaba. As for hitting Nagano and all batters except I are in so top condition that I am sure it is easy for Keio team to knock down Sakurai, Waseda's hurler, and so, at least, we will be able to get (gain) three scores.

As for pitching, four pitchers, are all in the best condition."

In particular, Hayashi is at good at control. From these facts, I'm sure it is possible not to give Waseda team more two than scores.

Slugger Nagano

Must crash Sakurai!

—Nagano— "To compare with Sugura of Rikkyo team, I don't feel that it is so difficult to crush Sakurai, the Ace-hurler of Waseda, with batings," said the most expected heavy batter Nagano smiling with confidence.

"This season, the pitching staff of our team is the No. 1 of the Six University and especially Tatum, the only southpaw has perfectly so much advanced that he chances to win the laurel depend upon our batting power. In this respect, I feel the great responsibility as the forth batter. At the coming K-W series, I will try not to grow too stiff. And I'm sure to crush Waseda with clean hitting with a relief mind."

Manager Mori

'Chances in our favour'

"In this Autumn Series Waseda team has not been in best condition, because clean-up trio, Tezuka, Mori and Nakamura don't play their parts well. Moreover our ace pitcher Sakurai was knocked-out by Rikkyo team in the fifth week of the league match and now he is not in satisfactory condition.

"On the contrary, each batter of Keio team is skilful and powerful. So we must employ the greatest caution to them; Nagao, Kato and Ikenishi especially. Moreover Keio team has four excellent pitchers and we must endeavour to crush them with all our energy, though I don't think Keio team has been in good condition in this series.

"Some people say that the catcher of Waseda team is not an expert compared with those of other higher-ranked teams, but I don't think so, because Moriyama plays an active part in both fielding and batting more than I have expected.

"As for our hurlers, I never doubt their condition is getting better, for our new coacher Renzo Ishii assumes the leadership well to Sakurai and Nishi. Especially Nishi, the only south-paw pitcher in Waseda team, is getting raise his pitch and his sharp-braked curve is remarkable.

"And at the same time, this autumn K-W match is the last chance for seniors to show remorseless plays, so I think Miyazaki, Mori, Tezuka, Nakamura and Sakurai will order their conditions and they must show powerful batting in coming traditional match. Of course, I will be glad if our team wins the Emperor's Cup, but it is the greatest pleasure for us to beat Keio team in the classic K-W matches. Therefore, speaking of my ambition of the coming K-W matches, I never think but doing the best and gaining a victory over Keio."

'Knock-out KO'

"Of course, we are all anxious for winning a victory over every other team, but especially we must defeat Keio. As for my-

Waseda nine high-spirited

The traditional Keio-Waseda Baseball Matches have come at last. For this very day, both teams have been in hard training day after day. At the Abe Stadium, the home-ground of Waseda team, they have been practising every day for over a month aiming at this very match. All the members of Waseda team unanimously say, "Even if we are defeated in other matches, we should positively like to gain a victory in the K-W matches."

Here follow their ambitions for the matches, their recent conditions and various topics—"The introduction and the view of Waseda team".

Waseda nine

HURLERS—

Kaoru Sakurai

Mito Daiichi High School graduate, senior, Dept. of Commerce. Waseda's ace pitcher, gifted all the elements necessary for the pitcher. It is regrettable that he lacks a skilful catcher to lead him.

Hisashi Nishi

Takamatsu High School graduate, sophomore, Dept. of Commerce. The first reliever. Expected as the ace pitcher next year.

Hitotaka Abe

Denshukan High School graduate, senior, Dept. of Commerce. "Victories in this season may depend on his shoulders", said manager Mori.

CATCHERS—

Sugao Nakayama

Kokura High School graduate, sophomore, Dept. of Commerce. A man of fighting spirit but weak in throwing. It is eagerly expected for him to lead a pitcher more skilfully.

Yasuomi Moriyama

Wasedagakuin High School graduate, Junior, Dept. of Literature. In the highest condition in hitting now.

INFIELDERS—

Kyozo Nakamura

(first baseman)

Utsunomiya High School graduate, senior, Dept. of Commerce. He is a long-hitter but lacks sharpness and a little small-hearted.

Akihito Kondo

(second baseman)

Takamatsu Daiichi High School graduate, junior, Dept. of Commerce. Short in stature but very active and steady in fielding both in batting and fielding.

Yoshiro Miyazaki

(captain, short stop)

Nitta High School graduate, senior, Dept. of Commerce. A mild sportsman, a sharp hitter and a good lead-off man; this may deserve a captain.

Choichiro Shimizu

(third baseman)

Chukyo Commercial High School graduate, sophomore, Dept. of Commerce. The most expected new face in Waseda team. He'll be a leading star in the future.

OUTFIELDERS—

Masanao Tezuka

Utsunomiya High School graduate, senior, Dept. of Commerce. An optimistic baseball-man. He is feared as a long hitter, especially when there are runners on the base.

Tatsuo Saito

(center fielder)

Wasedagakuin High School graduate, senior, Dept. of Commerce. He has a quick step and a sure batting. He was a pitcher in his high school days.

Toru Mori

(right fielder)

Waseda Gakuin High School graduate, senior, Dept. of Political Science. Well known Waseda man, famous for his long hitting in the league but lacks of technique.

Captain Miyazaki

'Will never leave regret'

"This autumn series is the last one for me. To my regret I have not been in good condition recently. In the last spring series, our team was contented with being among B-class, so at any cost we must restore our honor. As the captain of the Waseda team and as a second batter, I eagerly wish to leave no regret over the coming matches. I am often asked if I am very carefree as the captain, but I do nothing much to help my colleagues. Everyone helps me in harmonizing the whole team.

"Of course every match with other teams is fearful to us, but especially in the K-W matches all of us become tense and the matches are worth-while all the more for it. Moreover we are entirely defeated in the spring K-W matches. Therefore I eagerly wish to win. Keio team is united together, so I'll do my best to defeat Keio."

'With a special fighting spirit'

"Before the game of Waseda vs. Meiji, I suffered from hives, and I am now in had condition. Though we were defeated by Rikkyo, the hope of winning the Trophy still remains with us. The batters of Keio are all powerful and skilful; I am afraid of being downed by them. But I place great trust in Mori, who is now in top condition. Waseda has fine teamwork under captain Miyazaki. Of course we have the championship in mind, if we play games at all. At any rate, the K-W series gives us a special fighting spirit. We must do our best."

This and that of Wasedans

"I am a tumbler. Each player of the Waseda team has one of my fellows. We are told that if they win a victory in the coming K-W matches, they will give us eyes on the spot. May God give them a victory!"

'Abe Ryo' every day?"

Mr. Renzo Ishii, a former hurler of the Waseda team, has been asked to be a coacher of his old school. After graduating from the university, at one time he got a position in Nippon Steel Tube Ltd. Both Ishii and Sakurai are graduates of Mito High School and are hurlers, too, so Ishii takes much interest in Sakurai. The reason why the Waseda team is now in good condition may partly consist in such a point.

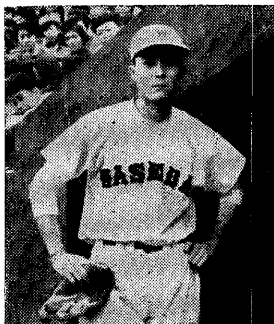

There are many superstitions among Waseda team. For example, they are nervous about which way to take to go to the ball-park. The most strange one of all is that if they should see a motor-hearse on their way to the park they would win a victory. It often proved true. So some of them say, "What if we have a motor-hearse stopped right in front of our dormitory

Some of the seniors of Waseda team have already found their employments as follows.

Miyazaki: Yawata Iron & Steel
Tezuka: Sumitomo Metal
Nakamura: Hitachi
Saito: Fuji Iron & Steel
Goto: Meldensha
Nakatani: Rikka Sewing-machine
Sakurai: Daishowa Paper

Keio nine at camp

Thus it did not seem that his affair would find any settlement. But, Mizuhara retired, of his own accord, from the Keio Baseball Club. "If Keio had been defeated by Waseda, then, we would not have fallen into such a serious situation", he commented on the other day.

In this domitory a nickname is a current word among them. From my experience, I'd like to advise my juniors that they will do their very best so that they may not repent of the unsatisfactory outcome of the game later.

What about the so-called "nighter"? As a matter of fact, I have never been to Ginza on the night of the game, not because I was so much exhausted, but because I was not allowed to do so. I, myself, wanted to join the nighter so hard then. I am now free to go. But, how much money I may take, it will not be enough to treat my juniors. So, I intend to refrain from going to Ginza.

At any rate, take good care of yourself. I'll pray for your victory from Osaka.

Besides, my father is a baseball fiend. He is fond of seeing the games of the Tokyo Big Six Uni-

Here come the letters and voices of the OBs

actor Morishige wishes

Hisaya Morishige, an all-round movie, radio and TV actor in Japan, wishes to express his sincere congratulations to the honorable Waseda-Keio baseball game.

The popular actor said that he was very much interested in the game in his school days at Waseda but regrets that his busy schedules keep him away from it now.

He, however, hopes that both Waseda and Keio team play fair and square games with fighting spirits and maintain the honor of the traditional game at Meiji Shrine Stadium.

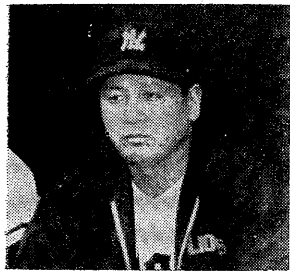

Morishige added that he cheers Waseda nine and wishes that Waseda team will beat their rival friend, Keio, in the time-honored match.

Mihara of Lions 'roars'

The pilot of Lions, which has clinched the pennant of the Pacific League, stated that it is very important even in the time-honored match to win, as he picks that the K-W game nowadays owes most of its publicity to the heated games of the past.

Courtesy of the Sun Pictorial Daily

The veteran of Waseda expects the powerful ballgames which are impressive, for actually they are a sort of demonstration of both schools to the public.

He also asserted that the two biggest private universities are becoming "semi-government schools". And he thanks the

Minister recalls

Mr. Hirohide Ishida

These days, my two daughters in their prime have cheered up Waseda by managing to get tickets. They are backing up Waseda-nine, for I graduated from the University, I believe. But these times even the Waseda team has become popular with young girls, I hear. This is rather surprising to me. For in my days no young girl liked Waseda which had very rough atmosphere far beyond attractive to them. I myself rather prefer the those-days manly atmosphere. I think it hopeless that even Waseda has been made much of by young girls.

Speaking of the game itself, it seems to have been losing its attraction it had not to the students only but to aged people also. It may be due to the increasing popularity of pro-baseball teams, I suppose. However, we graduates and you students alike must pay serious attention to the fact.

W-K match plays a great role in maintaining the merits of the private and liberal university.

O. Mikio advises

In 1925, I entered Waseda and Mr. Mori, now a manager of Waseda baseball team, was in our class in our college days, and for several years since, it had been successful and prosperous days for Waseda. As there were famous trio-Mihara, Kimura and Akuta who played leading part in the traditional ball game, Waseda always got pennant.

Nowadays, the field and track events are not so popular among young men and women generally on account of the enthusiasm for baseball. At that time, they were very popular among students and players were very ardent in comparison with the present students.

There are many unforgettable memories but now I want to say a few words. It is that players of today are lacking fighting spirit, playing sluggishly. So especially in baseball, players must not be showy but be honest to game.

Danna fears prophecy

"It happened in prewar days," began talking Mr. Ishiguro, regular member of radio quiz show, "we, Yoshie Fujiwara and I were asked by 'the All Yomi-mono' to foretell which of Waseda and Keio would win the game. Yoshie despite his job as a musician, was well versed in baseball, so he asserted Keio would surely gain a victory, after his 'scientific' consideration of pitchers, batters and nine's condition.

Danna Keishichi Talks:

While, as I was a perfect stranger to baseball, I insisted on Waseda's smashing victory, from 'mere feeling'.

But, oh, d... it!—Waseda had suffered a crushing defeat before the number of that magazine was issued.

Whenever the season of W-K baseball game comes round, I do call the affair to my mind. For very shame, I can't do such a thing as to foretell the game."

We ruffians? Oh, no!

The cheering-party proves itself

An O.B. cheer-leader of Waseda, who graduated three years ago, was kind enough to answer our questions very readily.

Asked the history of transition of the style of cheer-leading, he answered, "It was several years before World War II that the style of motions and clapping hands were organized as they are today. Cheering songs were also composed then for the first time. Until then, the melodies of other popular songs were used for the purpose."

"Training? Of course hard," he responded, "and even looks like military training. But it is necessary for building strong bodies and loud voices. For our task is not only to cheer up players but to put the spectators in order, even in an emergency such as earthquake or fire."

"Special cheering technics for K-W match? Yes, we have. Such as 'Silent motion', 'Waseda Wave' and 'Waseda Motion'." "We recruit around forty new members every spring. No more than ten of them remain until the graduation. There are two types of new comers, one is shy and timid, the other is bold and gaudy. And those ten survivors are the persons of former type. We expel those who show poor scholastic standings. Their motto is 'Be a model student in the classroom or the world outside as well as in the stadium,' he affirmed.

His saying that they change the place for summer training every year was thought strange by us. "Because we intend to make cheer-leaders understood by various people in many places where we settle our hostels," he answered. He also deplored the public at large, especially those in rural districts who tend to regard cheer-leaders as a sort of ruffians "Once in summer," he recalled, "in country we wanted a principal of a school to let us use his campus for our training. But he refused. Although after several days of our training at another place, he came to see me and said, 'I haven't thought of a cheer-party so rigid and controlled as yours. Please, come and show my pupil your splendid training.' Like this, wherever we go, though unwell-comed at first, we are praised our discipline when we leave."

He quietly said at the end, "After a game, even though we are defeated, and when we are clearing away the vacant seat of Waseda students, and hear Keio students' triumphant song, 'Oka no Ue' (On the Hill-top), we feel no regret.

And our eyes get wet with tears of no vexation but the satisfaction in finding the good old friendship of Keio."

All Waseda rushes to Shinjuku afterwards

Shinjuku nite

It is strange that there are four days in a year, two days in spring and two in autumn, when this big Shinjuku is invaded almost completely by Waseda students.

It has become almost a time-honored tradition for the Waseda students to go down to Shinjuku from the ball-park just after the game to drink in celebration of the Waseda-Keio match and share the joy with public.

Towards the evening twilight, thousands of Wasedans direct from the playground with the excitement of the heated game throng around Shinjuku. When the neon-signs begin to glare on the street in the dim afterglow of sunset, 'festival' goes into full swing. From the station comes out a long stream of students to the busy street.

In front of the station or on alleys, they form a large circle arm in arm and sing songs aloud, uttering the shouts of joy. On the alley, surface traffics are sometimes brought to standstill and even taxi-cabs are obliged to make detour.

Many of the students seem to throng around beer-halls. At certain large beer-halls, they welcome students with special rooms for them and furnish special music for the high-spirited students.

When a beer-hall gets crowded with the students, other customers stealthily get out of the house. Even passers-by, not to mention the Shinjuku residents, seem to take part in the festivity. The Waseda graduates who happened to be in the hall treat the students with such generosity as they were treated themselves in their school-days and recall their own pleasant memories. Thus whole Shinjuku turns out to be the paradise of Waseda students.

THE MITA CAMPUS, Keio University, Student Hall Room No. 20, Mita, Shiba, Minato-ku, Tokyo, Japan. Mita Office Tel. (45) 2318.
THE MITA CAMPUS is published every month during the academic year, and policies of THE MITA CAMPUS are the responsibility of the student editors. Statements published here do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the school authorities or any department of the University.

To the reader:

Here we, the Mita Campus, present you with the Special Edition of the Keio vs Waseda Ball-game. It is fifty-four years since our predecessors played the never-to-be-forgotten first match at Tsunamachi Ground, Mita, in 1903. Since then, the spirit which came out of the friendly rivalry of both universities has remained with us.

From now on, too, we students of both universities should respect the spirit which has now been prevailing on the playing-fields and also in the academies and we should try to live up to that spirit.

In publishing this Special Edition, we the Mita Campus have been helped by many students and outside people, especially by Baseball Magazine. On this page, we reporters all heartily express our gratitude to these people; and we also must apologize to those who kindly gave us messages and letters, which to our great regret, we could not publish here because we received them after the dead-line.

Thank you again for your co-operation.

'We all neighbours now'

Premier Nehru at Waseda

"I came here for two purposes. One was to gain that personal and intimate feeling of knowledge which comes from personal acquaintance and meeting a country or a people. The second was to convey to you and to the people of Japan not in mere words only, but perhaps in a deeper sense our affection to your country and your people. Many of you are students of the science and you made your country great in science and technology and industry. And yet we all know that great and important as science, technology and industry are, and we Indians are working for them by themselves and, unless balanced by other things of the spirit, they may not yield right results."

We have seen in the world of today tremendous achievements of science and technology and magnificent advances, and we should be proud of them. But we have also seen these very advances sometimes turned into one direction of conflict, hatred and warfare. So something else is necessary—something which above all university can give, something embodying a feeling of the spirit, something humanistic, something which feeds our minds from narrowness and hatred. The world has grown other today. "We are all each other's neighbours now and if you are each other's neighbours, we can either live in cooperation and in friendship or quarrel and destroy each other. That is the fate of the world. Now how is one to get a proper balance? Because it is more important today than anything else for nations, for peoples to get their balance to fit themselves in this world of high science and technology, because unless you do so, science and technology will run away with you, and run away with the world and run away with them into the deeper depth of common disaster. After all, who is to find the balance? Surely that is the duty of the universities of the world. Because it is people like you studying in vast numbers of the universities in the world who will shoulder tomorrow the burden of solving the problems of the world. You are due to present tomorrow—the tomorrow of Japan, as the young men of the universities of India represent the India of tomorrow."

"Now, if that is so, it becomes exceedingly important what this young generation in our universities is thinking, what urges it has, in which way it is looking, how it is conditioning itself and moulding itself to face the problems of the age. They are difficult problems. When I wonder about India, I look into the eyes of the boys and girls to try to find out what tomorrow's India will be like. That is more important to me than heavy books scholars have written. So this is this great problem. I do not pretend to know the solution of it. You and you and you will have to find the solution and people like you in other countries. But I do know one thing that there can be no solution unless we bring in the ways of the spirit to find this solution, unless we develop a wide humanistic outlet, unless we realize that through hatred and violence there is no solution of any problem. They only add to problems and create conflict. So it is by putting an end to hatred and violence and by developing the spirit of friendly cooperation that we might go towards the solution. And if we do not do that, the alternative is common disaster."

"You learn scientific laws of cause and effect. You read that if something has done, something follows from it. That applies to human relationships also, to national and international relationships. If your approach to a human being is friendly and of affection. If the approach of a nation to another nation is friendly and affectionate, the same response will come to it. That I believe is as much in law of science as the laws of physics and chemistry that you study."

Therefore, we should not find peace and solution of our problems in this world by hatred, because hatred will bring out the hatred from the opposites. Violence will bring violence from that party. And there is nonceasing cycle of hatred and violence. We have had wars, you have had wars and destruction and suffering, so I want to put this idea before you. "In fact, in this atomic age of ours, this is even more important that ever before, because we have to seek today, we have to choose today, which path we follow. And the paths are clearly defined. There are no middle ways. One is the path of peace and the other of conflict and warfare. If it is the path of peace that you follow as you must, then you must also think in terms of peace. It is not just enough to shout the slogans of peace. You must think in friendly way even of those who oppose you, even of those who think badly of you. That is the lesson which my great leader, Mahatma Gandhi, taught us. I do not know if we have learned the lesson because we are small folks and he was a great man."

But at any rate we learned something of it. At any rate, in our limited and imperfect way we tried to follow it. We often

To Keio Students

Mr. President, respected professors and young men and young women of the university.

Five minutes ago your university did me the great honour of conferring a degree upon me. By doing that they have made me a member of your university. And so I speak to you not as a stranger but as one of yourselves for the moment. I consider that a great honour indeed.

Your president has told you how many years ago Rabindranath Tagore (lived from 1861-1941, a great poet and philosopher of India—ED.) spoke from this balcony. We in India today have been moulded by many things; but more particularly by two great men, Gandhi and Tagore. We have set at their feet and what we are today is partly due to what Gandhi and Tagore did to us, and made us. So I am honoured that I should stand here at the place where this Great Sage of India, Rabindranath Tagore, stood many years ago.

Well, young men and women, I shall be here this balcony for a few minutes and there is much I should like to tell you. But above all, as I look at you, I think of the tomorrows in Japan and in the world that you will represent. For you are the Japan of tomorrow. Among you, there will be people who will shoulder great responsibilities in this country and in the world. How then are you preparing yourself to shoulder these great responsibilities? You know, and I know, that the world to-wonder and make mistakes. But whether we may make mistakes or not, I am convinced it is by following that path only that the world with spirit is possible. I remember—we talked of co-existence and of our nations with diverse opinions, living peacefully together. And some people think it is some new idea. Of course it is not new. It is as old as images in India. I give you an Indian example, because I know it. You have examples in every country. In India, we have all over the country great monuments, great stone pillars on which are inscriptions, carved two thousand three hundred years ago by the Emperor of Asoka, a great Buddhist Emperor. And if you read those inscriptions on the original rock, you will find the doctrine of co-

Nehru to Keio and Waseda

Both Univ conferred the honorary degrees

On Monday 7th, October, Premier Nehru of India paid visits to Keio and Waseda Universities. Both Universities welcomed him as a member of the Faculties by conferring on him the degree "Doctor of Rose". "Dr. Nehru" there made speeches to the students. Here, in celebrating our traditional ball-game which has been continued for more than half a century, we publish his speeches delivered at Keio and Waseda.

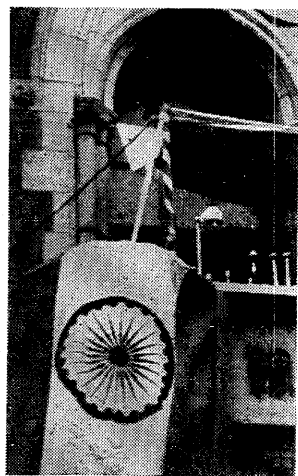

First, we extend our hearty good wishes to the Waseda Guardian which kindly gave use the opportunity to publish herewith the speech made at Waseda University. — Ed day is rather sick. It has great problems, great problems. How are we to solve them? We try to solve them—men and women of my generation—we have not done very well. So the burden will come to you. To solve is a great problem. How are you going to solve them? I cannot tell you. But I do know this: the problems of this world will not be solved by conflict, by hatred, or by violence. We have seen much violence in this world. We have seen great wars. They have not solved problems. They have made matters worse.

And now, in this Atomic Age; in this age of tremendous advance in technology, in science and all kinds of things like Atomic Bomb and Hydrogen Bomb of which Japan has had experience, how are we to solve these problems? Not by making bigger bombs not by bigger wars; not by hatred; not by violence. We can only solve them by some other ways. By the absence of violence and hatred, by developing the spirits of peace and cooperation, not only amongst ourselves in one country but in the world at large, certainly in the world of Asia, but also in the rest of the world; because the world has become rather small, rather narrow now; we travel in a day from one end of the world to another. Now the whole world impinges upon us and every country has become a neighbor today.

You and we India, to some extent, have imbibed what is called western culture, science, technology. Japan has grown great in science and technology. India is following a path of industrialization also. That is inevitable. But at the same time, no country can be truly great or creative unless it has roots in its own soil. Let us keep our minds open to all the thoughts and winds of all the thoughts from four quarters of the world. But let us keep our own culture's roots intact, otherwise we become rootless. So we have to harmonize the two, the individuality of Asia and the wide humanism of the world. One is not enough; if you are too national and forget the world, then you do not fit in the modern world; if you are too big and forget your own country, then you have no roots left. So you have to harmonize the two and develop your nationalism, your national spirit which is great in Japan, broadening it into the wide humanism which covers all the world. Thus you and we will know each other better; thus we shall serve the cause of our own country and the cause of the world and the cause of peace altogether.

My time is up now and I can not speak to you for long here. But it is a great pleasure and delight to me to see here—standing here—to see these bright, eager faces of these young men and young women of Japan and to realize that these are the builders of the Japan of tomorrow.

May be well with you all! May be well with Japan! May be well with Asia, and the world! Thank you.
